NOTES IN SEASON.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish immediately a treatise, by the Hon. Seymour Dexter, of Elmira, New York, on "Coöperative Savings and Loan Associations," which will include an examination of Building and Loan Associations, Mutual Savings and Loan Associations, Accumulating Fund Associations, Coöperative Banks, etc. The appendix will contain Laws of New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts, Forms for Articles of Associations, By-Laws, Account-Books, and other useful information on the subject. The author, who is Judge Probate of Chemung County, has been President of "The Chemung Valley Mutual Association" for fourteen years, and is high authority on the subject of which he treats. They also announce "A Manual of Instruction in the Principles of Prompt Aid to the Injured," designed for military and civil use, by Dr. Alvah H. Doty; and a new book by Mr. O. B. Bunce entitled "The Story of Happinoland and other Legends," which is to be issued in the Gainsborough series. The latter consists of four slight sketches—"The Story of Happinoland" (which, being translated, is Happy-no-land). "A Millionaire's Millions," "The City Beautiful," and "John's Attic," all of which, the latter, however, only slightly, involve questions in social science.

HARPER & BROS. have ready this week a concise instructive work on "Constitutional Government in Spain," by J. L. M. Curry, LL.D., predecessor of Mr. Perry Belmont as Minister of the United States in Spain. It is the result of some years of close study of the subject and of actual observation of Spanish political and social life during the author's official residence in the country. Valuable appendices are added, summarizing the careers of aspirants to the Spanish throne—Fernando, Leopold, Duke of Montpensier, and Amadeo; giving sketches of Christina, Isabel, Alfonso XII., the Infantas, the Queen Regent, and Alfonso XIII.; describing the present condition of Spain in its political, social, and industrial aspects; and lastly, explaining briefly the acquisition of Florida by the United States. They have also just ready "Choice Cookery," by Catherine Owen, author of "Ten Dollars Enough," etc., the object of which is to help those who wish to know at a glance what is newest and best in modern cookery.

THE D. VAN NOSTRAND CO. have just ready a valuable work on "The Telephone," by Wm. Henry Preece and Julius Maier, containing a number of illustrations and plates. The work is devoted entirely to the scientific and practical questions arising from the invention, the authors having ignored all the questions of privity, legal rights, etc., and confined themselves wholly to the principles and operation of the telephone.

DAVID MCKAY, Philadelphia, will shortly publish a new edition of Joel Cook's "Holiday Tour in Europe," formerly published by Porter & Coates. Several full-page illustrations.

G. W. DILLINGHAM will publish at once a new novel entitled "A Marriage Below Zero," by "Alan Dale," of the New York World.

COMPETITIVE ART PRIZE EXHIBITION.—Messrs. Raphael Tuck & Sons, the fine-art publishers, of Coleman Street, London, announce that they have arranged for an Art Students' and Amateurs' Competitive Prize Exhibition of copies from their studies and other art publications, to be held in January, 1890, at the galleries of the Royal Institute of Painters in Water-Colors, Piccadilly, London. Prizes amounting to 500 guineas and 100 diplomas (awards of merit) will be awarded by the judges—Sir John Millais, R.A., Messrs. Marcus Stone, R.A., G. H. Boughton, A.R.A., and Solomon J. Solomon, R.I. The announcements of rules, etc., may be obtained through Tuck & Sons' New York Agency, 298 Broadway.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. 4to: under 30 cm.; O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tl. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Adams, W: Davenport. By-ways in book-land: short essays on literary subjects. N. Y., Lockwood & Coombes, 275 Fifth Ave., 1889. 5+224 p. S. cl., $1.25.

Contents: Paper-knife pleasures; Ruskin as poet; Elections in literature; Familiar verse; Shakespeare's England; Heredity in song; Stings for the stingy; Dialogues of the dead; Sermons in flowers; Don Quixote in England; Bedside books; The praise of Thames; Mocking at matrimony; The outsides of books; Non-sense verses; Single-speech Hamiltions.

Adamson, D: The art of fretsawing and marquetry cutting: a complete guide for amateurs and professionals, containing full and practical instructions for producing and making up marquetry inlays and every description of fretwork. N. Y., Ward, Lock & Co., 1889. 160 p. D. cl., 75 c.

Alexander, W: J: An introduction to the poetry of Robert Browning. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1889. c. 5+212 p. D. cl., $1.10.

The matter embraced in this work was originally delivered in the form of lectures to a class of advanced students. The writer is strongly averse to that study of literature which consists in reading about books rather than in reading the books themselves. Accordingly the present work consists largely of extracts, accompanied by careful analyses and a copious critical commentary.

Austin, Alfred. Love's widowhood, and other poems. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1889. 6+142 p. D. cl., $2.

Briggs, M. C., D.D. The Sabbath; what, why, how. N. Y., Hunt & Eaton, 1888. c. 188 p. S. cl., 60 c.

Relates to the meaning of the name Sabbath; the exodus, the new Sabbath; the Sabbath law; a change of Sabbath foretold and foreshadowed; patristic testimony and usage; opinions of wise men; the grounds and claims of a civil Sabbath; prevalent abuses of the Sabbath; right uses of the Sabbath.

Bury, R: de. The philobiblon of Richard de Bury, Bishop of Durham, Treasurer and Chancellor of Edward III.; ed. and tr. by Ernest C. Thomas. N. Y., Lockwood & Coombes, 1889. 84+259 p. 1 il. D. cl., $3.75.

Richard de Bury, Bishop of Durham, was born on the 24th of January, 1287, at Bury St. Edmunds (whence his name) and educated at Oxford. He was tutor to Edward III., by whom he was advanced to the episcopal dignity in 1333; in the following year he was made Lord High Chancellor. This learned and munificent prelate founded a public library at Oxford for the benefit of the students; having furnished it with the best collection of books then in England, he fixed it in the place where Durham (now Trinity) College was subsequently built, and wrote his Philobiblon, a treatise containing rules for the management of the library, how the books were to be preserved, and on what condition lent out to the scholars.

"The animating spirit of the address is embodied in the sentences: 'It begins to be seen that this (the tariff controversy) is not a mere question of expediency. Ethics are indeed supreme. It is only questions of justice—the right and the wrong—that take a deep hold upon the human heart . . . So long as the public mind is unconscious of the moral aspects of political questions affairs drift as if chaos were come again; and thoughtful observers are driven to despair—to pessimism. It is only when the public conscience is aroused that hope revives and we become at once convinced that there is more than hope for humanity.' The controversy, taken at once upon ground as noble as sure, is clearly and calmly treated, and the little book deserves, in the interests of truth, the widest dissemination."—Providence Sunday Journal.

Hardy, Arthur Sherburne. Elements of analytic geometry. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1889. c. '88. 13+229 p. O. cl., $1.10.

Designed for the student, not for the teacher. Particular attention has been given to those fundamental conceptions and processes which, in the author's experience, have been found to be sources of difficulty to the student in acquiring a grasp of the subject as a method of research. The limits of the work are fixed by the time usually devoted to analytic geometry in our college courses by those who are not to make a special study in mathematics.

Hauff, Wilhelm. Das bild des kaisers: novelle; ed. with an introduction, English notes, etc., by K. Bruel. N. Y., Macmillan & Co., 1889. 27+216 p. S. (Pitt Press ser.) cl., 75 c.

Pasadena lies in the valley of San Gabriel, in Los Angeles Co., Southern California. It is a city of fifteen thousand inhabitants, the home of a wealthy and cultivated community, and an ideal health resort. The present volume is intended to give the tourist or general reader information regarding the conditions of life there and to indicate the points of greatest interest.

How to be successful on the road as a commercial traveller: by an old drummer. N. Y., Fowler & Wells Co., 1889. c. '88. 4+84 p. S. pap., 20 c.

A condensation of the experience and observation of an old and successful commercial traveller. Without assumption of that infallibility that gives rules of what to do and what to avoid in all cases, he puts a deal of common sense into his advice, and shows how a good knowledge of human nature is the potent instrumentality in dealing with business men and the road to success. In this connection he naturally dwells upon the influence of personal appearance, dress, language, manners, and tact generally.

Murray, D: Christie and H: A dangerous cat-paw: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1889. 211 p. D. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., new ser., no. 641.) pap., 30 c.

The hero, a clever London barrister, is tempted to steal some valuable unset diamonds belonging to a Scotch heiress, staying at his aunt's house. He is led into the crime by unfortunate financial difficulties, and by circumstances which make the act comparatively easy, and apparently impossible of detection. From the beginning he is the "catpaw" of a burglar he has saved from conviction, and who takes advantage of his embarrassments. The story is cleverly told, and has two interesting heroines.

Nevinson, H: W. Life of Friedrich Schiller. N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1889. 203+23 p. D. (Great writers' ser.) cl., 40 c.

"The size and many obscurities of the Book of Isaiah have limited the common use of it in the English tongue to single conspicuous passages, the very brilliance of which has cast their context and original circumstance into deeper shade. . . . Patiently to learn how these great prophecies were suggested by, and first met, the actual occasions of human life, is vividly to hear them speaking home to life still. . . . I have, therefore, designed an arrangement which embraces all the prophecies, but treats them in chronological order. I will endeavor to render their contents in terms which appeal to the modern conscience; but, in order to be successful, such an endeavor presupposes the exposition of them in relation to the history which gave them birth. In these volumes, therefore, narrative and historical exposition will take precedence of practical application."

Belongs to the series of volumes on the Old and New Testament begun under the editorial care of Dr. Daniel D. Whedon. The editor's death in a measure interrupted the work. Dr. Newhall's death also left unfinished his portion of the commentary on Genesis and Exodus. His manuscript covered Genesis from chapter v. to xii. and is here published substantially as he left it. Dr. Terry supplies omissions and furnishes an introduction to the Pentateuch.

This volume completes a series of lessons designed to enrich and enliven elementary education by glimpses of the interest and the order of animal life. Beginning with simple facts about the most familiar creatures, the lessons lead young readers on to understand the necessity for classification and the principles on which it is based. In this process a view is given of the animal world such as can hardly fail to have a considerable educational value.

"The writer of this work is thoroughly convinced that the Christian philosophy which recognizes a personal creator and the dualism of matter and spirit is the true interpreter of science, and that all real progress in knowledge is consistent with spiritual and eternal verities. An earlier effort to set this forth, in the volume entitled 'The agreement of science and revelation,' was well received in all evangelical denominations, and it is hoped that the present result of many years of biological study will also be useful."—Preface.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ARKANSAS CITY, KAN.—Finney & Lannon, booksellers, have gone out of business.

ATHENS, GA.—D. W. McGregor & Co., booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership, E. W. Burke withdrawing and J. W. Robertson being admitted.

BUTTE CITY, MONT.—The firm of B. E. Calkins, bookseller, has been changed to B. E. Calkins & Co.

CLAY CENTRE, KAN.—E. C. Wilson, bookseller and stationer, has been succeeded by T. J. Anderson.

DECATUR, ALA.—S. Tyler's stock of books and stationery has been burned out.

DETROIT, MICH.—John Hanley, bookseller and stationer, has removed to Jackson.

DULUTH, MINN.—Albertson & Chamberlain, booksellers, have been burned out.

GEORGETOWN, TEX.—W. Y. Penn's stock of books and stationery has been burned out.

HOUSTON, TEX.—A. H. Wilkens, of the Houston Book and Stationery Company, has sold out.

HUNTINGDON, PA.—J. C. Blair has been elected a director in the First National Bank of that city.

HUNTSVILLE, ALA.—Cooper & Lovett, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

INDEPENDENCE, ORE.—W. H. Wheeler, bookseller, has removed to Dallas.

MADISON, NEB.—Wilberger & Bordwell, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

MARION, DAK.—P. H. Goertz, bookseller and stationer, has removed to Freeman.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—E. S. Upton, bookseller, has had his stock damaged by fire.

OLYMPIA, WASH.—T. C. Van Epps, bookseller and stationer, has sold out.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—J. J. Staley & Co., dealers in subscription books, have been succeeded by W. H. G. Kirkpatrick & Co.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—Arthur C. Farley, publisher of "Farley's Booksellers', Stationers', and Printers' Reference Directory," and other trades directories, has disappeared, leaving behind him a very ugly record. It is alleged that he mismanaged his business in the most reckless manner besides resorting to criminal practices. The sums he owes are said to aggregate $20,000. The property which was recently sold by the sheriff were principally the subscription lists of the various publications, of which A. C. Farley & Co., limited, were the publishers and proprietors, and the amount realized was about $900.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.—We have just received a circular announcing that "The Keystone Publishing Co., Tenth and Filbert Streets, have purchased the extensive printing-office and bindery lately owned and operated by Messrs. John E. Potter & Co., together with about two hundred sets of electrotype and stereotype plates, and will hereafter be sole publishers of the popular Potter 12mos, the Allioli German Catholic Bible, J. Payne Collier's Annotated Shakespeare, etc. Our line embraces a large assortment of Family and Pulpit Bibles of all styles and prices—English, German, and Spanish, Protestant and Catholic—King James' and Parallel Editions; Testaments; Teacher's Bibles; Biographies, Histories; Books of Travel and Adventure; Agricultural and Veterinary Works; Popular Fiction; Novels and Poetry; Religious Works, etc." They have in preparation several new books to be sold only by subscription. John E. Potter & Co., however, are still in business, and report that they "are busier than ever."

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Sherwood Hough, bookseller, is advertising to sell out.

TROY, N. Y.—Howe & Smyth, booksellers and stationers, have been succeeded by Smyth & Co.

WALLA WALLA, WASHINGTON.—Stine Brothers, booksellers and stationers, have dissolved partnership.

YORK, NEB.—Panter & Bishop, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 16, 1889.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, to insure correctness in the final entry.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE AUTOMATIC BOOKSELLER.

THE difficulties of the book trade are at last solved, and to the wonders of the age is to be added an Automatic Bookseller by which books can be distributed throughout the country without the intervention of intelligence or other human aid. The wonderful idea has struck the Berlin Corporation for Automatic Sales, which supplies the German metropolis with the "drop-a-nickel-in-the-slot" apparatus for chocolates, chewing-gum, and other necessities of life. It is announced that this company is about to begin the publication of a $2\frac{1}{2}$ cent (10-pfennig) library adapted to the purposes of the universal provider. The nickel will be dropped in the slot and out will pop a book warranted to contain at least an hour's reading and covering also a sufficient amount of advertising to give the "Aktien Gesellschaft" that for which the bookseller has so long sighed—"a living profit."

It must be a serious mortification to the great Yankee nation that this useful patent automatic bookseller has been invented in one of the effete despotisms of Europe instead of in the land of the free and the home of the Trust. But the Yankee mind will have full swing in developing the invention to meet the conditions of our own favored land. The German system fails to provide, for instance, for the discount which is necessary to clergymen "and others," but Yankee invention will easily devise an attachment by which when a nickel is dropped in the slot not only will the book appear but one cent change will be dexterously jerked into the pocket of the customer.

In the case of juveniles and poets and other lightweight literature on which 60 per cent. is commonly expected by the bookbuyer, a patent cut-off valve should be devised to project a three-cent piece instead of a penny into the bookbuyer's pocket. The American company which holds the patent rights for this adaptation has been for some time quietly conducting an investigation as to the flavors of book most likely to meet the want of the book-chewing public, and has decided, we understand, to erect an octagonal stand about the size of the new police telephones in the larger cities, giving the several ages, sexes, and sizes of readers a reasonable range of choice. Among the first publications of the American company will be "The Pilgrim's Progress" and, by arrangement with the New York World, "A Servant of Satan;" "Red-Handed Dick, the Boomer of the Highway," a family Shakespeare, a Salvation Army hymnal, and a Webster's pocket dictionary will be among the other offerings to the eager public.

P. S.—Since writing the above, we regret to learn that the whole scheme has been blown into thin air not by dynamite but by the powerful lungs of the American small boy. A New York journal announces that a method has at last been discovered for "beating the machine," in which only a large mouth and a capacious pair of lungs are required. The small boy with the large mouth puts his lips to the slot and blows vigorously. At a certain period of the progressive blowing the pressure is exactly equal to the weight of the ordinary nickel, at which point the machine begins to work. By the continued co-operation of the small boy any number of persons may thus be weighed without the intervention of the nickel. This method can be applied of course not only to the weighing machine but to the various chocolate, chewing-gum, insurance policy and other lines of apparatus, and unfortunately to the new automatic bookseller. We regret that we have been able to make the above interesting announcement only to dash the hopes of our readers in this ruthless and reckless way. But so swift does one invention follow another in these days of world-wide gumption that this improvement on the automatic bookseller had no sooner come than it was doomed. The trade must still wait for the millennium.

AUTHORS' READINGS IN BOSTON.

THE Authors' Readings given in the hall of the Museum at Boston on the afternoon of the 7th inst., in aid of the International Copyright Association, proved a notable entertainment. The audience is spoken of as being one of the most brilliant gatherings of the literati of New England that have met together in many years in Boston. The Museum had been placed at the disposal of the Association, Mr. R. M. Field giving the free use of it for the entertainment. At the front of the stage stood two large vases full of beautiful red and white roses, and at the base of each lay a quantity of laurel. Just back of them stood a black walnut reading-desk of the conventional style. The proscenium boxes were occupied by Mrs. James T. Field, Sarah Orne Jewett, Margaret Deland, and Mrs. Agassiz of the committee of authors, and Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, Mrs. Mace A. Oliver, Miss Guiney, Mrs. Clara E. C. Waters, Mrs. Laura E. Richards. It was 3:15 o'clock when the green curtain rose, presenting to view the distinguished readers, officers of the Association, and the gentlemen of the committee of authors. At the centre of the front line was Mrs. Julia Ward Howe; at her left sat Mr. George W. Cable and Mr. Richard Malcolm Johnston, of Baltimore, while a little further on was Dr. O. W. Holmes, Prof. W. W. Goodwin, the chairman of the committee, and Mr. Dana Estes, Secretary of the Association. At the extreme left of the stage, upon a sofa, were Mark Twain and John Boyle O'Reilly, with Mr. C. C. Coffin close at hand. Charles Dudley Warner, with Col. Higginson and President Eliot, of Harvard College, formed a group in the centre of the stage. They were accompanied by Theodore A. Dodge, Collector Saltonstall, Mr. Curtis Guild, Rev. M. J. Savage, Mr. Warren F. Kellogg, Mr. F. J. Stimpson, Mr. M. F. Mansfield, Mr. A. S. Wheeler, Mr. D. P. Opdike, Mr. Frederick Law Olmsted, Mr. F. Hopkinson Smith, Rev. O. B. Frothingham, Mr. Alexander Young, Mr. H. W. Chaplin, Mr. S. J. Elder, Mr. Edward L. Bynner, Mr. T. B. Aldrich, Mr. J. W. Chandler, Mr. Edward Atkinson, Mr. James Parton, Prof. E. S. Morse, Mr. B. H. Ticknor, and President Hartwell, of the Senate. The scene set was that of a drawing-room.

The attention of the audience was first requested by Prof. Goodwin, who, stepping to the reading desk, said: "It is hardly to be supposed that any one has come to this assembly with any real doubts of the justice of our loud demand for international copyright. This demand is stated in such plain and simple terms, and it makes so straight an appeal to every one's sense of common honesty, that it is incredible that its justice should be questioned by any reasonable man, woman, or child. And yet the opposition to this movement, aided by an immense mass of stolid indifference, has prevented any measure for securing the recognition of a foreign author's rights by Congress during the past fifty years. This opposition, however, has little or no reference to our fundamental principle. Some of it comes from a fear that justice to the foreigner may prejudice certain vested rights at home. But still greater and more intelligent opposition to certain measures has been roused against the restrictions and conditions with which it has often been proposed to hamper the act of simple justice for which we ask. Many of these restrictions appear to recognize the author's rights in his work only in case he will recognize a right to interfere with his use of them—in other words, to grant him his rights with the understanding that he has really no right to them.

"But on the main question of giving the foreign author some ownership in the work of his brain there certainly can be no difference of opinion here; and the creed which we profess is extremely brief and simple. In fact, many people are innocently surprised when they learn that the plain proposition in which we state the claim of an author to his own work has actually been set at defiance by the laws of this great country. Some excellent people are grieved, and they tell us that we are not really thieves or pirates. And it must be granted that there is a grain of truth in this. We do not mean to be either thieves or pirates, the only trouble is, that we are apt to be a little confused in our ideas of what makes a thief or a pirate when a foreigner's rights are concerned, and the law refuses to protect him. We may as well admit that we show great respect for many of the rights of foreigners—even of foreign authors—and this removes us very far from barbarians who plunder or devour strangers whenever they can catch them. It must be said to our credit, in the face of all the world, that if Mr. Browning were to land to-morrow in Boston from a British steamer, and should walk up State Street with a new English ulster on, nobody would dream of taking away his ulster, even though it might be a model of comfort and elegance, and a much better one than could be bought here for what he gave for it at home. And if any misguided enthusiast should ever search his pockets for British gold, it is certain that Mr. Browning would be as fully protected by our police and our courts as if he were an American citizen. But if he happened to have in his pocket a new poem worth $10,000, and should innocently undertake to use this as his own property—like his coat or his gold—he would soon find out his fatal mistake. He would find that any publisher who printed his poem would be compelled by our laws to pay the printers, the paper-makers and the binders, and could legally collect all his bills for the sale of the poem; but that the one person connected with this book, to whom he would not be under the slightest obligation to pay a cent, would be Mr. Browning himself. If the poet asked for an explanation, he could have no answer but the simple truth, that he was a foreigner, and that a foreigner's writings are fair plunder by the laws of the United States. That is what he would hear if he were merely told his legal rights. But if Mr. Browning were so fortunate as to fall into the kindly hands of one of our vice-presidents, or into those of any other publisher of the same reputation, while he would be told the same story about his rights (unless shame for his country's honor induced the publisher to suppress the truth), he would also learn that honorable men would scorn to take advantage of his unprotected condition, and that he would be fully paid for his poem, in spite of the law, just as if he had been born an American.

"This moral necessity, which has caused a large and important part of our business men, of their own free will, to assume a heavy pecuniary burden, from which the law of the land especially exempts them, simply because they cannot, as honorable men, allow the unjust laws of the United States to be executed against foreign authors, is a fact of the greatest significance. While the highest honor is due to those who have made this custom the rule and no longer the exception, with honorable publishers both here and in England this state of things is an indignant protest against the iniquity of the present laws, and it calls in thunder tones upon Congress to wipe this stain from our country's honor, and to acknowledge the self-evident truth, that the man or woman who supplies the ideas for a book has as genuine a right of property in it as the one who sets the types or makes the paste-board for the covers."

Prof. Goodwin's address was warmly applauded. He then introduced Oliver Wendell Holmes, who read selections from "The Last Leaf," "Brother Jonathan's Lament," and other pieces in a remarkably clear voice and with delightful expression. He was followed by Mark Twain, whose "Speech on the New England Weather" brought down the house. Charles Dudley Warner extended the laugh by reading "The Yankee Philosopher." Mrs. Julia Ward Howe read "Balaklava," "Our Country," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic;" Richard Malcolm Johnston, "The Engagement of Miss Doolana Lines;" F. Hopkinton Smith, "Behind the Rialto;" John Boyle O'Reilly, "A Few Epigrams," "Ensign Ephs, the Color-Bearer," and "A Wonderful Country, Far Away in Bohemia;" George W. Cable, selections from "Au Large;" and Thomas Wentworth Higginson, "Heirs of Time," "Sixty and Six" (both unpublished).

The exercises were concluded by Mr. Dana Estes, Secretary of the Executive Committee, who said: "On behalf of the Executive Committee I congratulate all present on the result of the reading. I am unable to give an exact statement of the net proceeds, but from present data estimate them to be over $2000. The moral results are incalculable, but judging from the letters received from the officers of the Authors' and Publishers' Leagues, I can with certainty say that all the friends of the reform are greatly encouraged that we, in the teeth of our disappointment from the non-passage of our bill by Congress, have enthusiastically set to work for the future, with the determination to succeed the next time. [Applause.] On behalf of the Executive Committee, I thank you and the committee of authors who have aided in organizing this entertainment, and especially the ladies who have been so efficient on the Sub-committee of Arrangements. The authors who have taken such pains and shown so much interest in the cause cannot be too much appreciated and thanked, especially those who have travelled so far to assist us on this occasion. [Applause.] I wish also to make a public acknowledgment to Mr. Edwin Booth and Mr. Lawrence Barrett for their interest in the matter. It was hoped that the reading might have been organized during their engagement here, and that they might have taken part in it. Mr. Barrett kindly consented to do so, and Mr. Booth, finding himself unable to help us in this way, sent his check for $100 as a contribution to the cause. . . .

"We all regret to-day the absence of one who has taken so prominent a part in the copyright movement as to seem to be a necessary part of it, but I have here a note from Mr. Lowell assuring me that he was prevented from being here by an engagement made previous to the invitation of the committee."

In the evening the gentlemen readers were entertained at supper by the St. Botolph Club.

COPYRIGHT IN CANADA.

A BILL amending the Copyright Law was introduced by Sir John Thompson, Minister of Justice, in the Canadian Parliament on the 11th inst. and passed its first reading. The bill provides that publication or republication in Canada is compulsory within three months of the first publication elsewhere, unless it is proved to the Minister of Agriculture that satisfactory progress has been made in publishing in Canada, when an extension of time may be granted.

GERMAN BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1888.

THE following table from the Börsenblatt, prepared by the Leipsic firm of J. C. Hinrichs, presents a view of the book production in Germany. It is well to remember, however, that these statistics present not only the output of books in the German Empire, but of Austria and Switzerland as well. In fact, all countries whose publishers are members of the Börsenverein are represented:

A "NEW WRINKLE" IN THE ENGLISH MERCHANDISE MARKS ACT.

THE following extract from The Photographic News (London) may interest the trade:

"We have several times noted the absurd fashion in which the English Custom-House officials interpret the Merchandise Marks Act in relation to photographic goods; a climax of absurdity has, however, been reached in the case of a consignment of Mr. Bellamy's now celebrated work, 'Looking Backward,' which was forwarded from Boston to Mr. Reeves, the well-known bookseller of Fleet Street. Although the book fairly bristled with evidence of its American origin, the price on the front page of the paper cover being stated as 50 cents, the annual subscription to Ticknor's paper series being there given as 12 dols., and the advertisements at the end referring almost exclusively to the United States, the Custom-House authorities actually detained the consignment because 'United States' did not follow the word Boston, and Mr. Reeves could not get possession till he had stamped 'U. S. A.' on the cover in large letters. The theory was that the purchaser might suppose they were printed at Boston in Lincolnshire. If the Americans reciprocate, all London literature that does not bear the words 'London, England,' will be stopped at entry into America, as there is a London (several, we think) in the United States."

The above may serve as a warning to all publishers whose books are likely to be exported in quantities either large or small, bound or unbound.

OBITUARY.

U. P. JAMES.

U. P. JAMES, the well-known publisher, bookseller, and geologist, of 131 West 7th Street, Cincinnati, died February 25, at his residence near Loveland, O. He was born at Goshen, N. Y., December 31, 1811, and was thus in his seventy-eighth year. He went to Cincinnati in 1831. Soon after he arrived there he went into the publishing business with his brother Joseph, and afterwards started in his own name in the publishing and bookselling trade on Pearl Street, where he remained until 1845, when he removed to 167 Walnut Street and entered into partnership with his brother, Joseph A. James, under the firm name of J. A. & U. P. James, as publishers, booksellers, and printers.

In 1853 Joseph A. retired from the business, and since then U. P. James has carried on the publishing and bookselling business in his own name, removing to Race Street as the city grew; but during the past few years the active management has been under the direction of his son, Davis L. James. Honest and upright in all his dealings, and accurate to a cent in every transaction, the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette truly says of him, his reputation was so high that persons doing business with him always considered his statement to be correct, no matter how intricate the account might be.

Mr. James' life was a busy one, but he found time to follow the one recreation that gave him most enjoyment. Geology and palæontology were so attractive to him that he studied and worked and soon began to accumulate specimens that were rare and beautiful, and now his collection is said to be one of the largest and finest in the country, and the books and articles he wrote on those subjects are considered "authorities."

In 1841 he was married to Miss Olivia H. Wood, who survives him, and gathered around her are two stalwart sons and three young lady daughters to comfort and care for her.

With the same modesty and unostentation that characterized his life and the avoidance of all show or parade, he left directions that his funeral should be simple, immediate relatives attending, and no services be held at the house. His last sickness was painless and peaceful, and the end came like the quiet going to sleep of one whose work was well done.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MR. HENRY W. GRADY, of The Atlanta Constitution, is beginning, says the New York Tribune, what promises, if it is carefully done, to be a valuable work—a history of the Southern portion of the Union. The editor is to be assisted by specialists and the work will be illustrated.

MISS LAURA DAINTRY is known in bookish circles as the author of "Eros," a novel on the Amélie Rives order. She is a most attractive-looking girl of about three-and-twenty, and is the picture of health, being rosy-cheeked and full of vigor and animation. She is an enthusiastic pedestrian, and belongs to a walking club that keeps its members tired. Her father is a junior partner in the firm of Arnold, Constable & Co., N. Y.—B. B., in the Epoch.

MR. B. P. SHILLABER, better known as the irrepressible Mrs. Partington, now lives at Chelsea, one of Boston's many suburbs. He is 74 years of age, and crippled with rheumatism. He walks about the house with a cane and goes out of doors only in a carriage. He has not been to Boston for seven years. He began life as a printer, entering the Boston Post in 1838. He once gave two or three years of his life to a lecturing tour, and, though he was successful, he regretted it, feeling himself not cut out for that line of work. He travelled 6000 miles without an accident. Now, as he says, he goes nowhere. "With pen, paper, pipe and pills, I sit here, from year's end to year's end, patient as may be, receive my friends, and wait for the better life."—Commercial Advertiser.

MR. FROUDE has sent to the printers a novel, the scene of which is laid in Ireland in 1798. It is said that while the opening portions are unionist in tone, the later chapters show a change of feeling until the end is reached, which is all that an ardent Home Ruler could desire. In short, it is a map of Mr. Froude's mind during the progress of the Parnell inquiry which has made him a convert to home rule. It is almost forgotten now, says the N. Y. Times, that Mr. Froude wrote two stories 40 years ago called "The Shadow of the Clouds" and "The Nemesis of Faith," the former of which attracted attention, but both have long since been out of print. It is said that the author bought up all the copies he could soon after their publication. The circumstances under which Mr. Froude re-enters the field of fiction will create the liveliest demand for his book.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

MR. GEORGE GATFIELD, of the British Museum, proposes to publish a "Guide to Books Relating to Heraldry and Genealogy." The work will consist of upwards of 13,000 titles, and is intended to supplement such works as Sims' "Manual," and Marshall's "Genealogist's Guide." The price to subscribers will be one guinea.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have just published a classified catalogue of their books by Western authors, by which it appears that nearly fifty of the authors whose works are published by their house reside in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Ohio, or some other Western State. It is illustrated with portraits of Joseph Kirtland, Bret Harte, and a few illustrations of recent books by the authors represented. (12 p., 16°.)

MAX HARRWITZ, Unter den Linden 68 a, Berlin, has begun the publication of a monthly bulletin entitled Mittheilungen aus dem Antiquariat und Verwandten Gebieten, which aims to become a means of communication between the book collector and the antiquarian bookseller. The first issue contains a scholarly review of the catalogue of Dr. Ledebour's collection sold at Leyden last year. Incidentally this review gives much information of value to bibliographers and bibliophiles.

(86 p., 8°).—David Nutt, London, (No. 9) Standard Books; (No. 10) Select list of Standard Works in all Branches of Philosophy. (8°).—W. B. Saunders, Philadelphia, (No. 8) Americana and Miscellaneous. (52 p., 8°).—Henry Sotheran & Co., London, Sotheran's Price Current of Literature No. 481. (32 p., 8°).—Jos. J. Taylor, Taunton, Mass., (No. 15) Miscellanea. (6 p., 16°).

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE property of the American Magazine, which has suspended publication since last December, has been put into the hands of a receiver.

The Index, published by E. R. Walker, Chicago, is a little four-page monthly paper that will attempt to take "a glance at the leading features of the forthcoming periodicals." We wish it joy.

Once a Week has been enlarged, and includes a greater variety of contents. The most noticeable thing in the current number is the first instalment of a Stockton story called after its heroine, "Ardis Claverden."

MRS. JAMES T. FIELDS will tell, in the April Scribner, of some remarkable literary treasures in her late husband's library—memorials of the Edinburgh circle, Scott, De Quincey, John Wilson, and Dr. John Brown.

The Advance Sheet, published by C. A. Watson, New York, will attempt to give a monthly survey of periodical literature, indexing the contents of the leading periodicals for the next month, with such comments as will make the announcements as attractive as possible.

Wide Awake for March has several features appropriate to the Inauguration month: a charming adventure story, "How Nat Saw the Inauguration," relating to what befel a little fellow who walked into town from Alexandria to see President Cleveland take the oath of office four years ago; a reminiscence of the Harrison campaign of 1840, and a pretty little tale about Mrs. Harrison when she was a school-girl—these last two are in the department of "Men and Things."

THE April number of The Century will be devoted largely to celebrating the Centennial of the Inauguration of Washington in New York, April 30, 1789. The contents of the number will include: "The Inauguration of Washington," by Clarence W. Bowen, illustrated with views of New York in 1789, the reception at Trenton, portraits, etc.; "Washington at Mt. Vernon After the Revolution," by Mrs. Burton N. Harrison, with a number of interesting illustrations, and "Washington in New York in 1789," by the same author; "Original Portraits of Washington," by Charles Henry Hart, and "A Century of Constitutional Interpretation," by Professor John Bach McMaster. Mrs. Harrison's articles are devoted to the social aspect of the subject, and she will describe New York society at the time of the first President. A hundred illustrations will appear in this number of The Century.

A NOVELTY is promised by the Leonard Scott Publication Company in the American edition of the Nineteenth Century for March, in the shape of an American Supplement, containing a series of papers by some of the foremost of our educators on the relation of examinations to education. This subject has attracted considerable attention in England of late, having been started by the "Signed Protest" in the November Nineteenth Century. The present papers, presenting the subject from an American standpoint, will be by Ex-President McCosh of Princeton, Presidents Gilman of Johns Hopkins, Angell of the University of Michigan, Carter of Williams, Pepper of Colby, Magill of Swathmore, Sharpless of Haverford, and Rhoades of Bryn Mawr, Chancellor John Hall and Dr. Howard Crosby of the University of the City of New York, Professor Thompson of the University of Pennsylvania, Harper of Yale, Cook of the University of California, Harris of Concord, David Swing of Chicago, and Rogers of Haverford, Dr. Burnham of Johns Hopkins, and Hamilton W. Mabie and Barr Ferree of New York. The symposium promises to form a most important contribution to the discussion of a very difficult question of educational methods.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

ELIOT STOCK, London, has published an edition of Edgar Fawcett's poems, under the title of "Blooms and Brambles."

GRIFFITH, FARRAN & Co., London, will publish shortly a new book by Mrs. Molesworth, entitled "Story of a Pincushion." It will be illustrated. They are preparing a "Mrs. Browning Birthday-Book."

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just published a carefully prepared work on "American Constitutional Law," by J. I. Hare, LL.D., a prominent Pennsylvania jurist, who presents the subject from a strictly legal point of view; and "The English Law Reports for 1888."

GEN. ADAM BADEAU, determined to keep his name before the public, has brought suit for the sum of $22,500 against Charles L. Webster & Co., the publishers of General Grant's memoirs, because of their alleged failure to publish according to contract a book of his own entitled "Grant in Peace."

THE two new volumes of "Letters of Carlyle" which Prof. C. E. Norton has edited are mostly addressed to the various members of Carlyle's family, and afford a tolerably continuous account of his life from his marriage to the period when his fame was about to be established by the publication of his "French Revolution." Messrs. Macmillan are to publish them speedily.—Athenæum.

TICKNOR & Co. will publish shortly "Dragons' Teeth," translated from the Portuguese of "Eça de Queiros," by Mrs. Mary J. Serrano, a vigorous and interesting novel by one of the foremost novelists of Portugal. In their paper series of novels they will issue "Forced Acquaintances," by Edith Robinson, and "Under Green Apple Boughs," by Helen Campbell, with eight full-page illustrations by Howard Pyle.

A DINNER was given by the firm of Trübner & Co. to their employees at the Café de Paris, on the evening of February 27, the day of the marriage of Miss Lena Trübner, only daughter of the late N. Trübner, Esq., with Captain Arthur Chrystie, of the 12th Lancers. The chair was taken at about 7 o'clock by Mr. Child, the oldest employee in the firm, supported by Mr. F. Duffing, the chief acting partner. The evening was pleasantly passed by songs and recitations. On behalf of the American trade, we offer our congratulations to the bride and bridegroom.

THE "Complete Poems and Prose of Walt Whitman, 1855 to 1888. Authenticated and Personal Book (handled by W. W.) Portraits from Life. Autograph," has just been published in one royal octavo volume, three-fourths calf, gilt top, edges uncut. Price, $6.00. The edition is limited to 600 numbered copies, 100 of which are reserved by the author; and, as indicated on the title-page above quoted, each copy bears his signature, which is appended to an extract from his poem, "Come, Said my Soul." The book contains upwards of 900 pages, and includes, besides "Leaves of Grass," "Specimen Days and Collect," and "November Boughs," a supplementary chapter, written expressly for this edition and not previously published, from which the following characteristic words are taken: "The book might assume to be consider'd an autochthonic record and expression, freely render'd, of and out of these 30 or 35 years—of the soul and evolution of America—and of course, by reflection, not ours only, but more or less of the common people of the world. . . ." The trade will be supplied by David McKay, Philadelphia.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just completed a sensible move in separating their publishing and manufacturing departments from their retail store by removing the former to the fifth floor of the building of which they already occupy the store and basement and the sixth floor. In their new quarters the head of the house, Mr. George Haven Putnam, and Mr. J. Bishop Putnam with Mr. Parks and the rest of his staff of proof-readers and clerks occupy the front of the floor facing Twenty-third Street. A large room is set apart for the working staff, and two to the left are set apart with a window in each room for Messrs. George Haven and J. Bishop Putnam. The offices are neatly fitted up with a view to comfort as well as business. The woodwork is stained a black walnut color and the carpets and wall decorations are all in subdued colors calculated to give the rooms a cheerful look. From the ample window space a fine outlook may be had over a good portion of the city and of the Hudson River, though we imagine to such incorrigibly busy workers as the Putnams this feature will have little temptation. This move concentrates their work more effectually than before, bringing the manufacturing department within speaking distance of press-room and bindery, and gives their retail business the whole floor through from street to street. All this, of course, is owing to their steadily growing business, upon which the house is to be congratulated. It is always gratifying to learn that hard work and enterprise do meet with a proper reward, and these qualities have always distinguished the members of this house from the founder to the youngest of his successors.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address, in each issue. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

It is desirable to receive copy in shape ready for the printer, viz.: first, headline—name and address—then, titles in separate lines (see below), all written on a separate sheet, or at the bottom of letter, or on postal card. Compliance with this request will secure accurate and prompt insertion.

TO BE READY SHORTLY.

Caspar's General Directory

OF THE

American Book, News, and Stationery Trades, Wholesale and Retail.

COMPILED BY C. N. CASPAR.

The work will include the Publishing; Subscription; Retail Book; Antiquarian; News; Maps; Art; Music; Manufacturing; Jobbing and Retail Stationery; Blank-Books and Paper Manufacturing Business, and General Jobbers in the above lines in the United States and Canada. The work will be divided into six parts, as follows:

Part I. will comprise a list of the firms in a General Alphabet; with full information in regard to their nature, their specialties, etc.; firm changes of Publishers, Manufacturing Stationers, Jobbers, etc.; the approximate commercial standing and the present Post-Office Address of all firms, etc., arranged on the plan of the samples given below:

Armstrong & Son, A. C., Bk. Pub., Job. in Bks., Imp. of Bks. (Formerly of Scribner, Armstrong & Co.) Est. 1879. 714 Broadway, New York, N. Y. B1

Part V. gives the special nature of the various houses, enabling one to reach all firms with only such catalogues, circulars, etc., as may, by the character of their business, be of special interest to them. In this division all Publishers, Book Jobbers, Booksellers, Antiquarian Booksellers, News Companies, Newsdealers, Art Emporiums, Music Dealers, Manufacturing, Jobbing, and Retail Stationers, Blank-Book and Paper Makers, etc., will be separately classified and arranged in alphabetical order.

Part VI. embraces the Theory and Practice of the Book, News, and Stationery Trade, a list of Trade-Bibliographies and Trade-Journals, etc., etc. This section will prove of value to younger Booksellers, Newsdealers, or Stationers, and especially to inexperienced Dealers.

It is estimated that the Directory, when completed, will contain the addresses of nearly 20,000 FIRMS ACTUALLY IN BUSINESS.

Price to Subscribers $8.00 net—to Non-Subscribers, $12.00, net.

Orders for the above work will be received by

The Literary News.

With 1889, the LITERARY NEWS has become a capital Dollar Magazine, while keeping to its specialty of giving in an hour's bright reading a bird's-eye view of new books and literary affairs.

A charming novel of New England life, by a new writer, began in January and will run through the year.

A series of portraits, from original paintings by MISS DORA WHEELER, of Living American Authors, will make fine frontispieces to each number, accompanying descriptive sketches of "Authors and How They Work." Mrs. Burnett and Mrs. Stowe are among the first given.

Bright articles based on new books will be finely illustrated from them.

The "Survey of Current Literature" presents the best quick view of current literature given in any periodical.

A page of humor and miscellany, usually illustrated by "comics," enlivens each number.

Every bookseller who pushes the LITERARY NEWS, pushes his own trade also, because it is specially intended to help him sell books.

Any bookseller who takes 100 copies monthly has his own imprint-advertisement printed on front cover free. It becomes thus practically his own magazine.

Terms, One Dollar a year; Ten Cents a number.

TO THE TRADE: on sale and return, 6 cents a number; outright (10 or more copies), 5 cents a number; 100 copies monthly, with imprint, $5; 250 copies, $10; 1000 copies, $35. On single copies, mailed to subscribers from this office direct, at $1, one-third commission will be allowed.

NEW YORK.

JUST PUBLISHED.I. The Romance of an Alter Ego. By Gen. LLOYD BRYCE, author of "Paradise," etc. Paper, 50 cents.

"The Romance of an Alter Ego" is destined to create a great sensation among the best classes of novel-readers. An uncommonly absorbing plot, full of rapid movement and life, is carried to an artistic conclusion through a series of well-depicted scenes, written in graceful, yet sturdy English. The pages of the novel sparkle with pointed epigrams and brilliant wit. Undoubtedly the most readable book published in years.

II. Frederick Struther's Romance. A Novel. By ULBERT ULMANN. Paper, 50 cents.

An ingenious love-story, in which scenes of New York life never before touched upon in fiction are gracefully introduced. The tale is full of quiet pathos and delicate touches.

III. Where the Trout Hide. By KIT CLARKE. Illustrated. Containing also a detailed description of a newly opened, easily accessible, and beautiful country, whose waters teem with brook trout, black bass, and land-locked salmon. 16mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

The American Angler of Dec. 31 says: "'Kit Clarke,' than whom no greater angling enthusiast exists, is about to issue a little work entitled 'Where the Trout Hide,' the title and preface pages of which he has kindly sent us. As specimens of typography they are unequalled by anything of the kind we have seen. The preface will be appreciated for its brevity and terseness of illustration. We quote in full:

"When Marc Antonio discovered his friend Raphael engaged upon the Sistine picture, he exclaimed: 'Cospetto! Another Madona.'"

"Raphael gravely replied, 'Amico mio, my friend, were all artists to paint her portrait forever, they could not exhaust her beauty.'"

"The exclamation applies with full cogency to the valorous brook trout, than which God never created a more beautiful object.

"Mr. Clarke's literary efforts are quite familiar to the brethren of the angle, being much admired for their sapience and vigor, as also for the unique reason that he invariably has something to say, and says it in robust English."

IV. Brentano's Romantic Library. Vol II. "THE MUSSET VOLUME," containing: Three novelettes—"Margot," "The Beauty Spot," and "Croisilles," and a two-act comedy, "Valentin's Wager." By ALFRED DE MUSSET. Transferred into English by E. de V. Vermont. With a portrait of the poet by Marie Moulin. Cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

The novelettes contained in this volume are among the best productions of the French writer. The comedy is one of those delicate poems in prose which are so much better enjoyed in the quiet of the study than on the stage for which they are but seldom written. The introduction by Mr. de Vermont gives a masterly study of Alfred de Musset.

TO THE TRADE.

We desire to call the special attention of the Trade to our increased facilities for conducting the book-jobbing business at our new and commodious place of business,

Nos. 740 and 742 Broadway.

We are confident there is no more varied or general stock of

Miscellaneous and School Books, nor one more readily accessible for easy examination to be found in New York; that nowhere else will customers receive more prompt or careful attention or buy on better terms than we are able to offer on our goods.

We hope for a continuance of the liberal patronage which we received in Bond Street, and trust that the greater convenience of our new location, together with our added facilities for serving our customers with efficiency, promptness, and at the lowest prices, will enable us to merit a still greater share of business.
